Founded in April 2000, Enova Technology focuses on developing and marketing hardware real-time encryption solutions. In its early days Enova focused on bringing encryption ASIC chips. Today it has transformed to a full profile of encryption product and solution providers. With many years' hard working and efforts, Enova won significant US defense contractors orders that integrated Enova security solutions into US Air Force fighter jets including F16, Apache helicopters, unmanned vehicles, cruise missiles and several successful commercial implementations.
